

Alvechurch Community Choir
Newsletter 12 March 2019

Thank you, Mike, and everyone who came last night for another good session. We are rehearsing the songs for the Palm Sunday event but also some more secular songs for the Canal Society event and St Richard's festival. Mike is circulating harmonies for some of the songs.

The Canal Society event is on Saturday 13 April at about 2.00 at the Crown, Withybed Green. They are celebrating their 50th anniversary, and there will be a stall, boat rides, entertainment and food & drink. We are down to sing a few songs. We have just enough people signed up to go ahead but could do with a few more, so sign up next week if you can!

A reminder that our Palm Sunday procession on 14 April starts at 11 so you should get there from 10.30 to start forming up outside Sandhills nursery on the Redditch Road. If you are not sure about walking you can join in the Precinct for our static session.

Ian has let us know that George is doing better and has come home from hospital, so we send him our love.

I'll start a signing up sheet for St Richard's next week. We have quite a busy time through April and May! Don't forget our AGM is in two weeks' time, 25 March. We are also celebrating our 10th anniversary on that day so will have good old cake-stuffed interval between the AGM and the singing! Next week, 18 March, we have our committee meeting after which I will circulate the paperwork for the AGM. Thank you for all the song suggestions, which Mike and Laurence are looking at for after we finish our current series of events.
